ITINERARY

Day 1: Arrival to Sarria.

Arrival to Sarria, the start of your Camino and a chance to explore the town.

Day 2: Sarria - Portomarin.

23km / Climb: 300m

Set off on the Camino amongst ancient oak, birch and chestnut forest and later walk through many hamlets dotted around areas of cultivated land and grazing pastures, along quiet country lanes and natural pathways.

Day 3: Portomarin - Palas de Rei.

26km / Climb: 450m

Pine forests, corn fields, meadows and oak and chestnut woodland accompany you on this stretch of the Camino. You will also cross a number of small villages full of rural character.

Day 4: Palas de Rei - Arzua.

29km / Climb: 150m

You will cross 6 river valleys along secluded pathways through mature woodland. The area is full of medieval castles as well as Romanesque churches and settlements.

Day 5: Arzua - Rua.

17km / Climb: 160m

A short stage walking amongst woodland, meadows and small orchards near the many small villages you go through.

Day 6: Rua - Santiago de Compostela.

23km / Climb: 120m

The last stage. The first few kms through dense eucalyptus forest, then the long climb up to Monte Gozo and finally enter the historical city to make your way to the famed Cathedral.

Day 7: Rest day in Santiago.

One last day to rest and enjoy the history and culture of this fabulous city.

Day 8: Departure or extra nights.

Departure or extra nights in Santiago.

ACCOMMODATION

Five small hotels in the Camino itself of two to three stars standard. In Santiago two nights in centrally located small hotel.

FINISTERRE EXTENSION

The Camino Finisterre is an amazing 96 kilometre extension to your Camino de Santiago, takes only an additional five days to complete the pilgrimage to the medieval "end of the world." Because Finisterre was considered to be the end of the known world in the Middle Ages and it held special spiritual and physical significance which seems to survive to this day..
